

Real Wines

Real Wines is run by Paul Liversedge, a half-Scot, half-Englishman who has spent over 15 years working in senior positions in the premium wine business in London, Hong Kong and, since 2005, Zurich. Paul originally trained as an accountant but his passion for wine soon overcame his interest in balance sheets and he has now become Switzerland's second Master of Wine, one of only 300 in the world. He has a wealth of experience in premium wine retailing and in specialist fine wine buying for drinking, investment and resale to many of the world's best known wine merchants.

His goal with Real Wines is simple: to sell only wines which give great pleasure and enjoyment to his customers, in a friendly, relaxed but efficient style, and at prices which are always extremely reasonable given the quality in the bottle.
